REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

As to independent claim 11, "confirming the synchronization of the control cycle and the cycle of the single-rotation reference signal of the main spindle whose position has been corrected" and "outputting a command to a threading spindle when the main-spindle single-rotation reference signal and the control cycle are synchronized", in combination with other claimed elements and features is not taught nor fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

As to independent claim 16, "a threading-spindle interpolation starting detection means configured to confirm the synchronization of the control cycle and the cycle of the single-rotation reference signal of the main spindle whose position has been corrected " and "an interpolation means for each spindle configured to output a command to the threading spindle when the main-spindle single-rotation reference signal and the control cycle are synchronized", in combination with other claimed elements and features is not taught nor fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

2. Prior art

Asakura et al. discloses a thread cutting machine with a control system. Also disclosed is a rotation of the spindle controlled in a synchronous manner. The control of the machine is using rotating speed, rotation angle, feed position, thread pitch, rotating pitch. Asakura et al. discloses detecting position of a spindle. Using rotating speed and angle for correcting the spindle to bring it into synchronous speed, angle and position. Asakura et al. does not disclose confirming nor outputting based on confirmation that a single rotation reference signal of main spindle is in synchronization with control cycle. Asakura only discloses that the spindle and control cycle should be in synchronization and leaves it at that , without expanding on the point. So there is know checking for confirmation and since no checking there is no out sent out.

Froyd et al. discloses a cutting tool for cutting threads, measuring spindle position also using interpolator to synchronize cutting motion with spindle angular speed and also computes a position error. Froyd et al. does not disclose what Asakura lacks.

All other cited prior art of record in general deal with thread cutting machines and they lack the same thing that Asakura et al. lacks.

3. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
